

PACDL 2018-2019 Platform Planks

1. Appellate

PACDL supports the addition of up to eight judges to the Superior Court. PACDL supports the idea that Superior Court judges should sit regionally in the District they assume office in (Eastern, Middle, and Western); and that each District will have at all times a Judge assigned to deal with emergency matters. Furthermore, PACDL supports merit selection of Appellate judges.

PACDL supports amending the Rules of Professional Conduct to preclude prosecutors from interviewing a criminal defendant's prior lawyer in PCRA proceedings and from sitting at counsel's table with that lawyer during PCRA hearings. PACDL further supports amending the Rules of Professional Conduct to require prior criminal defense counsel to cooperate with PCRA counsel.

2. Asset Forfeiture Reform

PACDL supports civil asset forfeiture reform legislation that would include, but not be limited to, the following principles: 1) No property shall be forfeited unless the property owner is first convicted of a crime and has exhausted all appellate avenues; 2) Law enforcement agencies shall not recognize a direct financial incentive to seek forfeiture; 3) Local and state law enforcement shall be prohibited from participating with federal agencies' equitable sharing program that allows pursuit of federal forfeitures; 4) Free legal representation for the indigent shall be provided in civil asset forfeiture proceedings; 5) Individuals subject to civil asset forfeiture actions may request a prompt hearing to contest the seizure of their funds; 6) State and local law enforcement shall report annually their civil asset forfeiture seizures ; 7) Property seized and stored pending disposition of the forfeiture shall be efficiently and securely stored at the expense of the Commonwealth and no costs for storage shall be assessed to a claimant when property is returned; and 8) Any asset that is reserved to fund a criminal defense as guaranteed by the Sixth Amendment to the United States Constitution and Article 1, Section 9 of the Pennsylvania Constitution shall not be subject to forfeiture regardless of the source or status of the asset.

3. Bail Reform Plank

Consistent with the Eighth Amendment of the United States Constitution, Due Process and Supreme Court precedent, pretrial liberty must be the norm and detention prior to trial the carefully limited exception.¹ PACDL endorses pre-trial detention reforms to protect due process, preserve liberty, and secure, where necessary, those who must be restrained under the least restrictive conditions.

Comment:

Pretrial detention exacts a high price both fiscally and personally causing job and housing loss, strained familial relationships, as well as loss of freedom. Pretrial detention threatens the presumption of innocence by leveraging guilty pleas. It serves to lengthen sentences and is unfairly administered against the economically and racially disadvantaged. Monetary Bail should be the last resort, not the first.

1. Means of Setting Bail:

- a. Wealth cannot be the factor determining whether a defendant is released prior to trial.²
- b. Qualified and independent personnel should undertake the calibrated use of quality risk assessment tools in considering flight or re-arrest risk without ignoring individual characteristics.
- c. Conditions such as GPS monitoring and electronic home monitoring deserve consideration, when absolutely necessary, over detention.
- d. Defendants should be detained only when a judicial officer finds clear and convincing evidence after a hearing the accused poses a significant flight risk or imminent harm to others.³

2. Improved Pre-trial Services. PACDL endorses improved efforts to ensure appearance and avoid re-arrest by more robust, independent pre-trial services to do the following:

- a. Observe a defendant's right against compelled self-incrimination and right to counsel during any process where data related to pretrial release is acquired.
- b. Provide evidence-based recommendations for pre-trial release
- c. Refer released individuals to supportive services, including employment and housing programs, medical and psychological treatment, legal services and drug and alcohol treatment opportunities.
- d. Evaluate individuals' eligibility for diversionary programs such as ARD and treatment courts.
- e. Remind released individuals of court appearances.

3. Administrative Reforms.

- a. Commercial sureties should be abolished as they are an invitation to corrupt relationships with attorneys and help to preserve the current system of monetary bail.
- b. Defendants should receive credit for all significant restriction of liberty including home confinement against a future sentence.
- c. Arrested individuals brought before a Magisterial District Judge should be provided the opportunity for counsel prior to preliminary arraignment and immediate appeal of the bail determination.

4. Death Penalty

PACDL has long opposed the penalty of death as a criminal sanction. Every significant study of Pennsylvania's capital punishment system has concluded that it is severely flawed, unreliable, and arbitrarily administered. PACDL also supports a moratorium on the state's use of the death penalty until such time that this cruel and unusual punishment is prohibited.

5. Driving Under the Influence

² ABA standard for Pretrial release 10-1.4 (c-e)

³ NACDL Board Resolution 7/27/12 Concerning Pretrial Release and Limited use of Financial Bond.

PACDL advances the zealous defense at all stages of prosecution. PACDL believes that the initial stop of the vehicle (if stopped) and the procedure law enforcement uses to acquire chemical results, must survive constitutional scrutiny. PACDL condemns vehicle stops not based on suspicion and disfavors all roadside check points.

6. Expungement

PACDL supports a change in the law of expungement to include, specifically, that any person, not convicted of an offense or otherwise has a right to expungement, shall be restored to the status the person occupied before the arrest, indictment or information. That person shall have the right to deny the occurrence of any arrest, indictment information or conviction of that offense. No person as to whom an Order has been entered shall be held thereafter under any provision of any law to be guilty of perjury or otherwise giving a false statement by reason of the person's failure to acknowledge the arrest, indictment or information in response to any inquiry made of the person for any purpose. It shall, further, be unlawful for any person or organization to request or report any information or material which has been expunged or ordered sealed by Order of Court.

PACDL supports a change in the law allowing limited access (sealing) of criminal convictions after a period of time of good behavior. After a period of five (5) years for misdemeanors, ten years for non-violent felonies and (15) years for violent felonies (with the exception or murder) the record shall be sealed and unavailable to anyone other than law enforcement for a specified purpose.

7. Grand Jury

PACDL supports reform efforts changing current practices to respect the rights of witnesses, counsel for participants and those accused of criminal behavior by the Grand Jury. PACDL supports actual notice and an opportunity to be heard before a participant is sworn to secrecy; PACDL supports active assistance of counsel for a witness as contemplated by the Grand Jury Act; PACDL supports reform to the 'Report' process, affording an aggrieved individual the opportunity to comment and respond to a report prior to its publication; PACDL supports that a Trial Court Judge presiding over a case brought by the Grand Jury have all authority over Grand Jury exhibits and transcripts; and PACDL supports a 'stay' procedure similar to 28 USC section 1826 – a stay shall be granted unless the appeal is frivolous or taken for delay.

8. Immigrant Defense and Multi-Lingual Services

PACDL supports efforts to treat immigrants with respect and dignity. PACDL also supports improvement of interpreter services for non-English-speaking defendants to ensure that their decisions are the product of a knowing, voluntary and intelligent understanding of the issues germane to their cases.

9. Indigent Defense

Pennsylvania's failure to provide any state-based funding for indigent defense must end. Individual defense counsel owes the same duty under the Sixth Amendment of the United States Constitution and Article I, Section 9 of the Pennsylvania Constitution to indigent clients as those who privately retain him/her. PACDL supports reforms that enhance the delivery of defense services to ensure this obligation is met.

10. Jury Instruction – Cross Racial Identification

PACDL supports legislation creating a standard criminal jury instruction about the empirically proven unreliability of cross-racial eyewitness identification. Such an instruction would ensure fundamental trial fairness for citizens accused of crimes.

11. Juvenile Justice

PACDL believes detention is a last resort for juvenile offenders. PACDL supports efforts to develop alternative methods to address incidents involving parent/child disputes, school-based occurrences and events that occur in mental health facilities, hospitals, foster homes or other facilities designed to help the occupants.

12. Prison Reform

PACDL supports the end to private prisons, jails and detention centers. We support prioritizing prevention and treatment over incarceration when tackling addiction and substance abuse disorder. Incarceration must be used only as a last resort to protect society.

13. Probation

PACDL supports probation reform that includes: 1) reducing the length of probation time served by defendants; 2) easing stringent and onerous reporting, drug urinalysis, and other programming requirements that are placed on individuals on probation; 3) eliminating supervision for individuals who have met all other conditions and only have outstanding fines, costs, and associated court fees; 4) eliminating the lodging of automatic detainers for technical violations; 5) authorizing judges to remove defendants from intensive county-supervised probation once certain conditions have been met, which could include successful program completion; 6) establishing maximum caseload standards for probation officers; 7) providing drug and alcohol identification and treatment training of probation officers to aid in referring probationers to appropriate treatment modalities; and 8) allocating additional funding to increase the number of social caseworkers to improve rehabilitation and re-entry outcomes.

14. Sentencing

PACDL is committed to reforming the current sentencing structure. PACDL is concerned that sentences are unfairly disparate and unjustly lengthy. PACDL seeks sentences to focus on the restorative and rehabilitative needs of the individual offender. PACDL, therefore, condemns all mandatory minimum sentencing provisions, the rigorous adherence to the sentencing guidelines, and sentences based on risk assessments. Moreover, PACDL opposes the use of risk assessment tools for sentencing without a accompanying needs assessment.

PACDL strongly endorses efforts in sentencing reform focused upon: 1) Alternative sentencing schemes through the Intermediate Punishment Programs designed by the judiciary after being educated about the individual offender; 2) Meaningful pre-sentence investigations which identify the unique needs of the individual; 3) The increased availability of county special treatment courts for offenders identified as substance abusers and/or those dealing with significant mental illness; and 4) Diversionary programs created by probation and the courts at the local level to keep non-violent offenders on probation instead of sentencing them to jail terms.

15. Sex Offender Registration & Notification Act (SORNA)

PACDL strongly supports the complete abolition of the Sex Offender Registration and Notification Act (SORNA). The Association recognizes that this law does not actually meet any of its intended goals to keep the public safe and in fact provides a false sense of security to the public. Also, it imposes additional punishment to those who have already paid their debt to society by serving an appropriate sentence. PACDL supports the following:

- a) Enacting legislation memorializing case law that makes SORNA punitive and therefore "expo facto" parts of the Pennsylvania and United States Constitution apply.
- b) Re-evaluating the types of crimes that SORNA applies and eliminate those that do not have any effect on the direct safety of the community.
- c) Creating a tier of SORNA that is not published for less culpable offenses such as indecent assault, indecent exposure, and statutory sexual assault.
- d) Re-evaluating the effectiveness of the Sexually Violent Predator status and the need for Sexual Offenders Assessment Board. Allow local district attorney's offices the ability to decide if an assessment is necessary for a particular case.
- e) Creating a more comprehensive system to classify "out-of-state" offenders that is equitable and complies with the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Offenders should be given credit for the years they served on another state's sex offender registration and not have their registration time re-started just because they moved into Pennsylvania.
- f) Requiring explicit notification of any SORNA registration requirements both at the time of the plea and at sentencing. This notification should be provided on the record and in a written colloquy. Ensure that failure to provide adequate notification is an affirmative defense to any failure to register charges that may be brought against a person.

16. Prosecutorial Discretion

PACDL supports reform and the development of clearer standards for prosecutorial discretion in matters pertaining to criminal intent, mens rea, willful blindness, and quid pro quo.

17. Federal Sentencing

PACDL supports Federal Sentencing Guideline reform, eliminating 'amount of loss' as the driving factor in economic crime, reducing compound upward adjustments generally, and providing for alternatives to incarceration for those who pose no threat to the public.
